Aesthetes Fear a New Monstrosity; Want a Sayso on Memorial Arch.

Too many of these artistic fellers were not to be around this morning in the Board of Estimate Chamber in the City Board of Estimate Chamber in the City Hall when Honest John Hylan's committee on art will begin consideration of the permanent war memorial for the city of New York. But a meeting of the National Sculptors Society heard about the parliament of the esthete on Saturday night. As a result there will be not only plenty of artistic fellers around this morning when Mr. Hylan site as the namorning when Mr. Hylan site as the naplenty of artistic feliers around morning when Mr. Hylan sits as the patron of plastic art, but they will be, to use an inartistic simile, around Honest John where Aphrodite wore her beads.

It all came out quite casually on Sat-urday night. It was started by Paul Bartlett, who modelled the goregous plaster horses atop the Madison Square victory arch and who is chairman of the committee on art of the Mayor's committee to arrange the permanent me-morial. Between the spinghetti and the chowder at Saturday night's meeting in the rooms of the National Scuiptors, 215 West Fifty-seventh street, Mr. Bartlett remarked to his fellow artists; Lads, I hope you'll all be down to the

An old, shrewd Swiss manu-facturer said to the writer more than once in speaking of the rush to the United States of the pop ulation of the countries of Europe and Asia:

"I can see that America has plenty of territory to receive them, but I cannot see how you can digest them so quickly.'

Well, the truth is, we are finding out that we have not digested them and that we have now to learn that these newcomers have been turning the tables on us with schemes and powerful or-ganizations to digest the entire United States of America.

Our fellow-beings, with any real grievance, may be at all times assured that they shall have full sympathy and fair play in our country, but that America will stand, like an impregnable rock, to resist, at any cost, selfappointed rulership.
